

JNAAG Guidelines

I am going to visit the Judith and Norman Alix Art Gallery, or JNAAG for short.

The JNAAG has rooms filled with art for me to enjoy.
It is important that I follow the JNAAG Guidelines to keep me and the art safe.

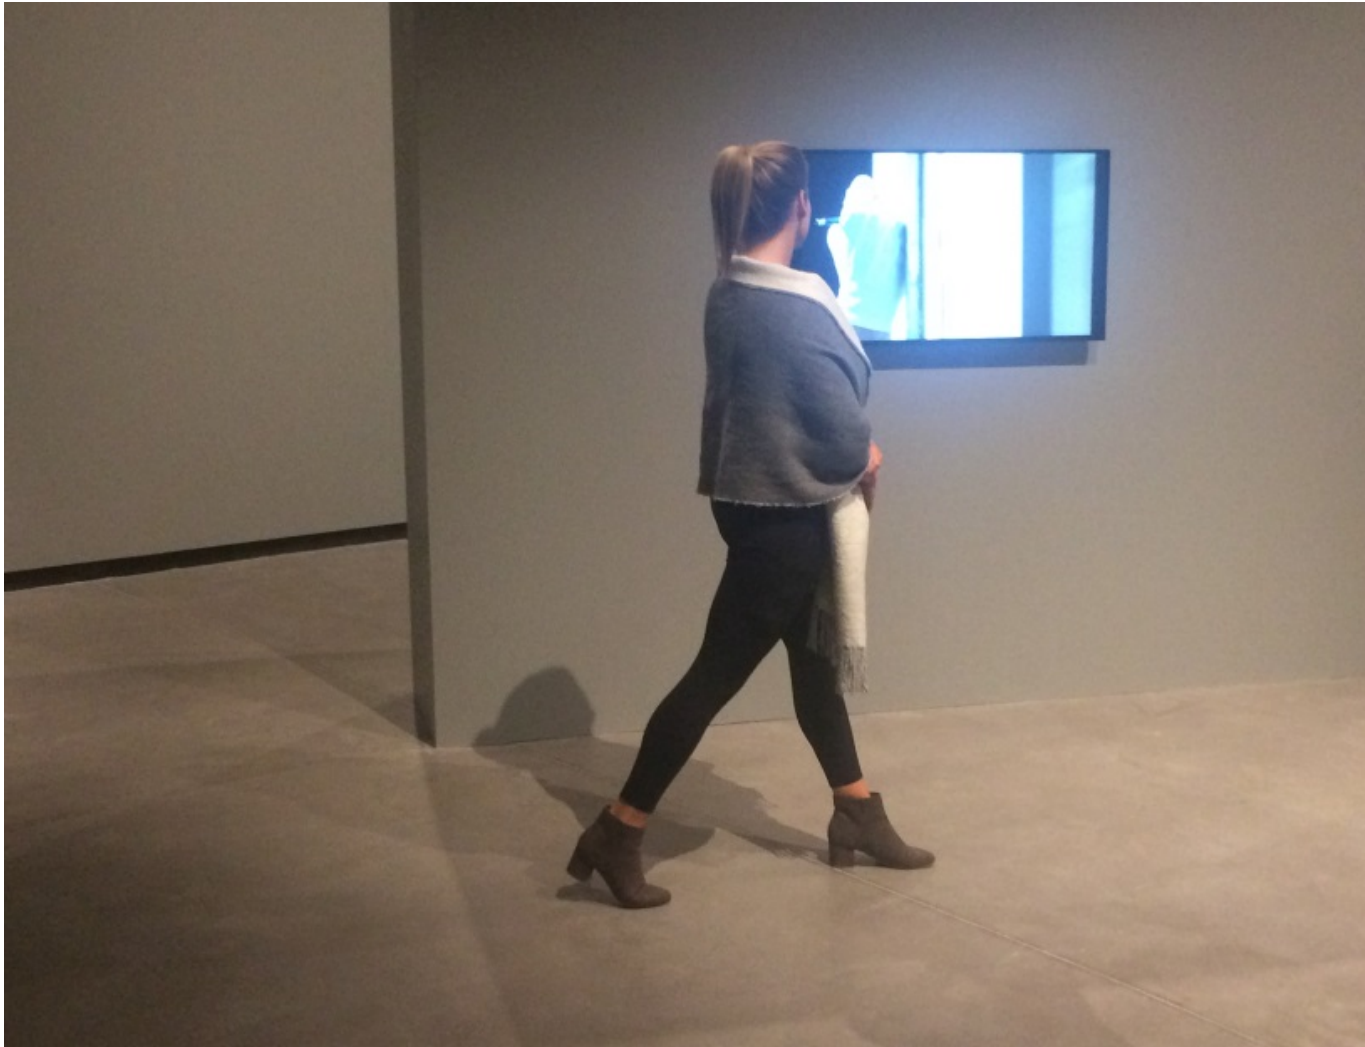

I will stay with my support person at all times.
If I get lost, I will find a Gallery Staff Member and they will help me find my support person.

I can ask questions when it is my turn to talk.

I will remember to walk carefully in the gallery.

I shouldn't bring food or drinks into the galleries.
If I get hungry or thirsty, I can have something in the lobby or the lecture theatre.

The most important rule is I do not touch the art.
This keeps the art safe so that other people can enjoy it too.

If I have a hard time remembering the JNAAG Guidelines, my support person will help me and I can try again.

It can be fun to visit the JNAAG to learn about art, myself and others.
